Run Da 608: seizure and prosecution

PRODUCE reported the seizure of 19 tonnes of squid in 2018; prosecutors reported a trial referral in 2020. The requested sentence is not a verified final judgment. S46, S47

Wildlife moved through the postal system

Peruvian prosecutors reported a five-year sentence for Yuelin Gan Cao over shark fins sent through three postal consignments toward Hong Kong. The record follows a land-and-air logistics chain, not only a fishing vessel. S51, S52

Access rules and ownership histories

The 2024 monitoring rules belong beside actual entry decisions. The Damanzaihao history adds a different problem: its 2015 IUU listing and 2020 removal must both remain visible. S13, S65

What to investigate next

1. Retrieve the final Run Da 608 judgment, any appeal and the disposition of the seized catch.
2. Compare port-entry permits, monitoring compliance and medical or crew-change exceptions.
3. Seek customs lot records and corporate filings that connect the catch, processor and beneficial owner at the relevant date.

The hub combines separate enforcement, trade and corporate cases. A port visit, foreign investment or ownership change is not inherently illicit.
